Tracey Hupko:

Our goal is to provide a moment in time where families can enlist their athletes in our programs to be introduced to the game of golf, to find a love for the game of golf because really it is a game you can play throughout your entire life.

00:19- 00:21

Jessica Korda:

How have you been enjoying the Grant Thornton Invitational so far?

00:22- 00:30

Amy Bockerstette:

I loved it and thank you for having me. It was so much fun and I love it here. And I am happy to be here.

00:31- 00:45

Tracey Hupko:

For us, being at this event where we're able to see men and women competing together, being on a level playing field, that means the world to our athletes. Being able to show them that they can have experiences like these other world-class athletes. It truly helps us with that diversity, equity and inclusion and it makes us part of the sports community.

00:46- 00:52

Amy Bockerstette:

I am strong. I am confident. I am proud to happy!
Powerful!
